Managed vs. Un-Managed Hosted Voice

When considering an investment in Hosted Voice Service, it is important to understand the difference between Managed & Non-Managed options.

Managed Voice provides a direct connection between the customer & the telecom company's private network (similar to two cans and a string). Although this type of service is more costly than Un-Managed Voice, the quality of service is enhanced.

Un-Managed Voice is essentially a "best-effort" solution, since the connection to the telecom company travels over the Internet.

Both types of Hosted Voice Services have optional features including Voice Mail to Email, Fax to Email, automatic Disaster Recovery, and the ability to work remotely while appearing as if you are in the office.

Past & Future Energy Conservation Ideas

Over the past 7 years, Emendee Tech has implemented hundreds of energy upgrade solutions and saved millions of dollars, including:

HVAC (Heating/Ventilation/Air Conditioning) – savings of 10%-40%

EMS (Energy Management Systems) – computer technology used to optimize energy performance

CoGen (Cogeneration) – uses natural gas to simultaneously produce heat (i.e. for a swimming pool or domestic hot water) & electricity

LED's & Sensors – typical savings of 20%-50%

Solar Panels – use the sun to heat water and/or generate electricity

Economizers – offer energy savings for vending machines

VFD's (Variable Frequency Drives) – control the frequency & voltage supplied to an electric motor; similar to a gas pedal

Capacitors – save energy by temporarily storing unused electricity

Fidelco is an internationally-recognized leader in the guide dog industry. CFO Julie Unwin was interested in cutting costs as well as making energy efficiency improvements. The Small Business Energy Advantage Program was the perfect solution, along with energy supply service solutions offered by Emendee Tech.

According to Julie, "Working with Dave has been a pleasure. Fidelco Guide Dog Foundation is always looking at cost saving options. Dave recommended replacing all of the lighting throughout our campus. These changes resulted in saving thousands of dollars. He made the process simple and easy... we hardly noticed that the workers were here. I would highly recommend Emendee Tech."
